Decentralise Blockchain BEP20

What does “Decentralise Blockchain BEP20” mean?

Smart contracts, like cryptocurrencies, are decentralized and work according to a defined program, with no possibility of changing the execution. The contract logic is stored on the blockchain, and calculations are done by millions of computers worldwide, ensuring there is no risk of hacking or interruption.

Decentralized marketing uses an automated contract for maximum security and sustainability. A smart contract automatically executes, existing within the “IZU BLOCKCHAIN,” the leading platform for creating smart contracts. The blockchain is an immutable record of transactions, ensuring cryptographic security.
